You can claim if you:

- are a UK-based app developer, whether a business or an individual;
- sold apps, in-app purchases or subscriptions on Google Play, paying commission to Google;
- made at least one of these sales between August 2018 and July 2026.

Is your app free to download?

You’re still eligible if you sold subscriptions or other in-app content.

HOW MUCH?

Every eligible business is guaranteed

£200

as a minimum payment.

Businesses that generated more than £7,500 through the Play Store can receive more.

Check your award

You can see it on the claims portal.

Free to claim

We will never ask you for money.

Claim in four steps.

It only takes a few minutes.

1 Check your inbox

Look for an email sent to your Google Play developer account address.

2 Log in to the official claims portal

Use that email address.

3 Enter your Notice ID

You'll find it in your invitation email.

4 Check your award and submit

Confirm your identity and submit your claim.

No invitation?

Select "Create a new claim" on the portal and the claims team will review your eligibility.

IS IT GENUINE?

“If an email about a Google settlement has landed in your inbox, it isn’t spam.”

Professor Barry Rodger, Class Representative

- The Competition Appeal Tribunal approved the settlement on 16 September 2026 (case 1673/7/7/24).
- Angeion Group International is the official claims administrator.
- Your bank details are only requested through the secure claims portal.
